In order to qualify for federal work-study, you must meet the following requirements:

1. Complete your financial aid folder and the verification process in its entirety. Work-study funds are limited and awarded to eligible students on a first-come first-served basis until all funds are expended. Applications for summer work-study must be submitted by June 1. Spring work-study applications must be submitted by February 1.

2. You have to have been offered an eligible work-study position at a federal, state or local public agency or private non-profit organization where the work performed is in the public interest.

3. You have to be considered to be making academic progress by Villanova Law School's standards.

4. You have to be considered to be currently enrolled or intending to return to study at the law school. If you decide to transfer or you withdraw, your work-study eligibility will immediately be terminated.

5. You cannot receive work-study funds if:
    a. You are going to receive education credits at Villanova Law School through an externship for this position
    b. You receive a Public Interest Fellowship (PIFP) for this same time period
    c. You will be paid by your employer for this position
    d. You will be paid for working for a professor at the law school or in any other capacity within the university for this same time period

If you meet the above requirements, then please complete the information below and return this form to the Office of Financial Aid.
